Report on the Inauguration of Wall Magazine on the occasion of World Book and Copyright Day.

Organized by: Sikkim Alpine University Library in collaboration with Department of Library and Information Science.

Campus: Kamrang

On the occasion of World Book and Copyright Day, the Central Library in collaboration with the Department of Library and Information Science, of Sikkim Alpine University, successfully organized the inauguration of a Wall Magazine on 27th April 2026 at the university campus in Namchi, Sikkim. The event aimed to promote reading culture, creativity, and awareness about the importance of copyright among students and faculty members. The wall magazine was thoughtfully designed and prepared by the students of the Department of Library and Information Science, showcasing their creativity through illustrations, quotes, and informative content related to books, libraries, and copyright awareness. The inauguration ceremony commenced with a brief introduction to the significance of World Book and Copyright Day. Students actively participated by delivering speeches highlighting the importance of libraries as knowledge centers and emphasizing the need to respect intellectual property rights. They spoke about how copyright laws protect the work of authors and encourage creativity and innovation. The Wall Magazine was formally inaugurated by the respected Registrar of the university, who appreciated the efforts of the students and encouraged them to continue engaging in such creative and academic activities. In his address, he emphasized the role of libraries in academic growth and the importance of respecting copyright in the digital age.

Faculty members from various departments were present at the event and expressed their support and appreciation for the initiative taken by the students. The collaboration between the Department of Library and Information Science and the Central Library played a key role in the successful organization of the program. The event concluded with a group interaction and a photo session, capturing the memorable moments of the inauguration.
